James,

Sony can commit to providing $75K incremental MDF to support the media + content endcap. Let's touch base on Monday to discuss our next steps.

Thanks,
Patrick

I understand that Elliot and Sean spoke about this earlier this week and that Elliot endorsed it. Great news! We still have a few things we need to seal up as we move down the road. First, the issue of funding. We mentioned below that endcap funding runs $150K. Were you able to secure this? Second, the content on the flash drives. I need to see a complete list of what we can access to make a decision on the content. That may ultimately drive the graphics of this thing. Since the media piece is a Adam Sandler movie, is there a way to make this a Sandler themed endcap?

Will you be over here next week at some point so we can all sit down and get back on the same page again and plan our next steps?

Patrick -

I saw you tried to call on my cell. I am working a small fire drill right now and I will give you a call shortly.

James,

Thanks for getting back to me. I will inform my team of the delay you've encountered on your end.

I also wanted to let you know that I've requested that Sean address this topic with Elliott at his next meeting due to the upfront investment on Sony's side. I believe his next meeting is planned for next week.

Thanks Again,
Patrick

Partick -

Rob, Nikeela, and I have had a chance to go over this concept. While we like the overall idea, there are several concerns. First and foremost, we can not commit today. The endcap/shipper approval process does not even begin for January until mid-October. We need to speak with Elliot when he returns from Asia next week to see if we can get his approval up front. In addition to this, the lack of funding is presenting a problem. Endcaps or shippers of this type usually run about $150K. That is an issue we need to work through as a group. Finally, we need to come to consensus on the artwork and content but this can be worked out as the other things fall in place.

Once we have a chance to catch up with Elliot and get his buy-in then we can give the approval back to you. With Monday being his first day back and with everything else that already happens on a Monday, it will likely be Tuesday or Wednesday before we can get back to you.
